About me

Committed and curious. I'm versatile at work, I quickly learn new tasks to do. Being able to innovate and learn new things awakens my will to do more and better.

My professional experience has enabled me to improve my communication between different teams, easily adapt to different challenges and environments and be resilient to a fast paced work environment.

The integration of interactive technologies in communication and multimedia and their interaction with the public awakens my interest and motivation to develop new projects.

Education
